"OLD WEST" WILL BE THE THEME FOR "PLUSH" SPRINGVILLE INN

BILL AND MAXINE JOHNSON ARE REMODELING OLD HOTEL; OTHER DEVELOPMENTS PLANNED

SPRINGVILLE — The "New West" is coming alive with an "Old West" motif as Bill and Maxine Johnson remodel the old Springville Hotel into a new Springville Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have purchased the "Wilkinson Building," constructed in 1912, also adjacent property, and hope to have the Springville Inn operating by early fall as a "plush" restaurant carrying an Old West theme throughout.

"We have already gone to work on the interior of the building and are cleaning up the vacant property in back," Johnson says. "We will also re-do the exterior in old-west style, and when everything is finished, we will have an air conditioned dining facility that is high class and modern in every way we can make it, yet reflecting the old day's atmosphere of early California and Springville."

Johnson, who is a general contractor, is putting a dining area, kitchen, and bar on the lower floor of the building. A banquet room and office space is planned on the second floor, with direct entrance off a parking lot that will be constructed on the hillside back of the building.

Front porch will be re-designed to make room for widening of Springville's "Main street" - Highway 190 - and a typical old-west, second-story balcony will be placed across the front of the building.

Included in the total project is development of parking area back of the Inn, involving some terracing of the hillside. Eventually, the Johnsons plan to place several motel units on the property.

Already the Johnsons have re-worked the building they purchased just north of the old hotel that houses Springville county library branch and Springville Realty, giving it a western touch with a brown and yellow paint job, an old buggy on the roof, and a sign board based on an old wagon.

Springville Realty is operated by Mrs. Johnson, with Charles Rippey in the office as broker, and his wife, Kae, as salesman.

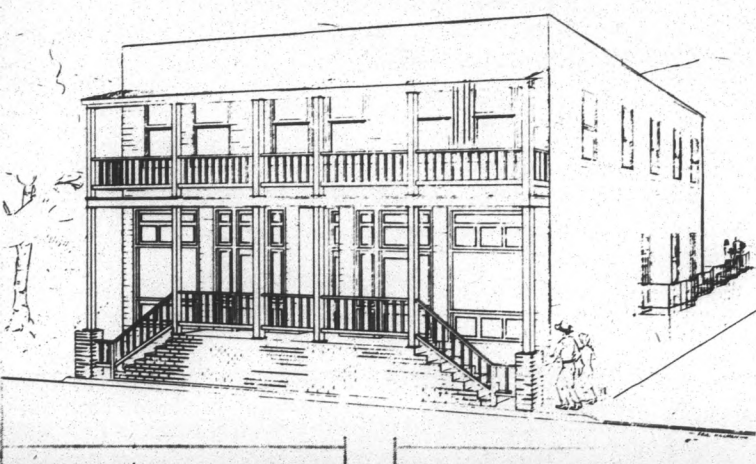

The Rippys are recent arrivals in Springville from Torrance; they have a new home under construction on the Yokohl valley road just west of the Balch Park road.

"IT LOOKS REAL GOOD FOR SPRINGVILLE DEVELOPMENT"

SPRINGVILLE — "It looks real good for Springville," said Dick Coon, president of the Springville chamber of commerce, in commenting on plans of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson to turn the old Springville hotel into a new Springville Inn.

"This could mark the beginning of a development that we have talked about for years - the adaptation of a western theme and motif for the entire Springville business district," Coon says.

"The chamber of commerce is working on this, with Ted

Schorr, owner of the Springville Variety store and a former architect in southern California, serving as chairman of our western theme committee.

Most college students we've known work harder at avoiding 8 a.m. classes and bunched the rest so they'll have time off than they do at their studies.

Not so for a group of future marine zoologists studying at the University of California's Santa Barbara campus. These youngsters, according to their professor, Dr. Albert Ebeling, spend day and night in the ocean with scuba gear in a systematic study of fish activities at a single location off the coastside campus.

The marine zoologists want to learn more about the "ecological niche" of each species and how each goes about its life without interfering with the other.

They have found, for example, that an underwater swing shift seems to be in operation. At night the Blacksmith, a steel-blue colored fish, hides out in the cracks and holes of the reef, while the walleyed perch swims about feeding on plankton. During the daylight the Blacksmith becomes active while the walleyed perch seems to disappear.

The senorita, which flits about in the kelp canopy during the day, descends at night to bury itself in the pebbly bottom. Others don't formally "go to bed"; they just remain inactive or sluggish and don't eat. And still others keep going all night.

One fish the night-divers would like to see bury itself or disappear is the torpedo ray, a grey, 30-pound animal capable of delivering an electric shock of 50 amps, the equivalent of that of a large car battery.

"Since the sea water is a conductor of electricity, all it takes is one inadvertent touch—and wow!" a student said.

A night-diving team stays down about 45 minutes before returning to the boat to allow the other team a turn.

It is sometimes more frightening on the surface bobbing around in the boat on the black sea than it is under the water, Dr. Ebeling notes.

"One night I heard a grey whale blowing and breaching so close I thought it was going to collide with our boat."

The UCSB Police Department has loaned them a two-way radio by which both parties keep in contact. If trouble should develop, the campus police have at the ready a sea-rescue craft and a trained crew.

"The holder of a bachelor of arts degree in biological sciences often feels insecure when applying for his first job because almost all of his experience has been in the classroom," says Dr. Ebeling.

"But our students can say, 'I've done real-life research. I've designed an experiment and tested an hypothesis. I've made emergency repairs in a rocking boat with the wind in my face. I've put up with the cold, the dark and the wet. And I've completed my assignment despite sea sickness.'"

CHARLES CRAIG IS NEW COACH

BAKERSFIELD — Charles Craig has been named track and cross-country coach for the 1972-73 year at Cal State Bakersfield. He was national AAU triple jump champion and Pan American Games champion in 1967; he was a finalist in national Olympic trials in 1964 and 1968; he served as assistant track coach at the University of California, Berkeley; and is a graduate of Fresno state.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

SHORT SHOTS — If agricultural use of DDT is as damaging to wildlife as the environmental screamers would have us believe, how come dove, quail, pheasants, rabbits and such do so well in our farm areas. . . City officials should arrange to take care of property the city now owns before acquiring or creating more property. . . And when is the Rodgers plan for downtown street signing going to be activated? We can't believe that city councilmen will stop with such a halfway measure as the circle-line-arrow signs only. . . Remembering what the country looked like when we were a young fellow flying around with June Bug Baird, we call to attention the fact that thousands and thousands of acres of alkali that then lay toward the west have been converted into producing agricultural land by the work, money and ingenuity of farmers. . . What we really saw at the Democrat convention was not the emergence of new, young, starry-eyed leadership of the Democrat party, but a text book example of a smoothly run political machine — actually the Kennedy machine, temporarily operating as the McGovern machine. After the indication of Democrat attitude toward agriculture as shown by the "boycott lettuce" fiasco, any farmer, or anyone else involved in any way with agri-business, would have to have rocks in their head to vote for McGovern. . . Mandatory for every high school student should be sound and thorough instruction on operation of the American corporate system, along with a factual analysis of how and by whom wealth is created. . . It's a 99 percent shot, or better, that DWP will be in the nuclear power generating business on the Larry Gill property site north of Porterville by early August. And if there are faint hearts who worry about the disposition of atomic waste, a friend of ours, Jay Hatton, who dropped in from St. Louis to visit his old hometown of Porterville, suggests that active atoms be put in a rocket and fired back to the sun from whence they came. . . Remember Whit Whitfield, former Sequoia Forest supervisor, former Forest Service wheel in Washington D.C., former shotgun on the Jackass Mail but never up to being wagon master? Whit and Carol are now in Missoula, Montana, where Whit is deputy regional forester — and rumor has it that he is moving west to make another attempt at usurping the wagon master position.

California's early summer carrot crop is estimated at six percent above last year.

INCREASED USE BRINGS RESTRICTIONS IN KINGS CANYON PARK BACK COUNTRY

THREE RIVERS — Under the management plan placed in effect to protect back-country resources in Kings Canyon National park, wilderness use permits to travel the Rae Lakes Loop trail in the park are now being issued only from Cedar Grove and Onion Valley roadheads to this section of back-country trails.

No permits will be issued by mail for this trail; permits will be issued without charge on a first come, first served basis for the 50-mile trail, and may be obtained no more than 24-hours in advance of entry to the back-country. Visitors are cautioned to leave their pets and guns at home since they are not permitted in National Parks.

Travel on the Rae Lakes Loop trail will be limited to a total of 15,000 visitors for the period June through September. Ten days is the limit any individual or party may spend in traveling around the 50-mile loop.

The number of overnight users departing from Cedar Grove (Road's End) will be limited to a maximum of 60 people per day and from Onion Valley (East Side) 50 people per day. Ten days is the limit for travel around the 50-mile loop.

Special regulations for those using the loop trail include one-day camping limit in any one location, campsites located at least 100 feet from lakeshores and out of sight of the trail. Gas stoves are specified for use in the Dollar, Arrow, Upper, Middle and Lower Rae Lakes, Sixty Lake Basin, Dragon Lake and Kearsarge Lakes, where wood fires are not permitted.

These management measures, it is stated, are designed to forestall and correct stream pollution and other resource damage that has been observed by rangers over the past several years as a result of increasing visitor use.

SPECIAL HUNTS SET FOR DEER, ANTELOPE, ELK

SACRAMENTO — Twenty-two special antlerless and either-sex deer hunts, with 9,125 permits, have been authorized for the 1972-73 season by the California Fish and Game commission.

Special hunts for buck antelope and Rocky Mountain elk have also been set. Detailed information on all the special hunts, and applications for permits, can be obtained from local license agents.

Hi-4-H Officers Presented At County Meeting

EXETER — Hi-4-H officers for the 1972-73 year were presented at annual Tulare County 4-H Awards night program held July 14 in the Exeter Memorial building.

Heading the organization is Bill Bennett, Vandalia 4-H, with Bruce Carter, also Vandalia, vice president. Dina Souza, Pleasant View, is secretary; Dan Holloway, Vandalia; is treasurer; Roselyn Borges, Buena Vista, is reporter; and Mark Swall, of Oakdale, is purchasing agent.

Adult leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Noble, of Porterville and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Williams, of Dinuba.

Programs carried by the Hi-4-H include serving free coffee and extending a welcome to Tulare county at a station on Freeway 99; awarding of scholarships; the sending of two delegates to the National Citizenship Short course in Washington D.C., sponsors competition in record keeping among 4-H clubs, and, this summer, clearing a mile of trail in the Sierra, back of Camp Wishon.

Good supplies of California summer sweet corn will be available through August, with production expected to be about six percent above 1971.

Late summer honeydew melon acreage in California is set at 9,400 acres, compared to 8,700 acres last year.

The struggle for power.

We could run short of electricity.
Conservation is vital.

Remember that record-breaking heat wave last year?

You weren't the only one sweating it out.

So were we. The demand for electricity hit an all-time peak on September 13, 1971. It was 13% higher than the 1970 peak.

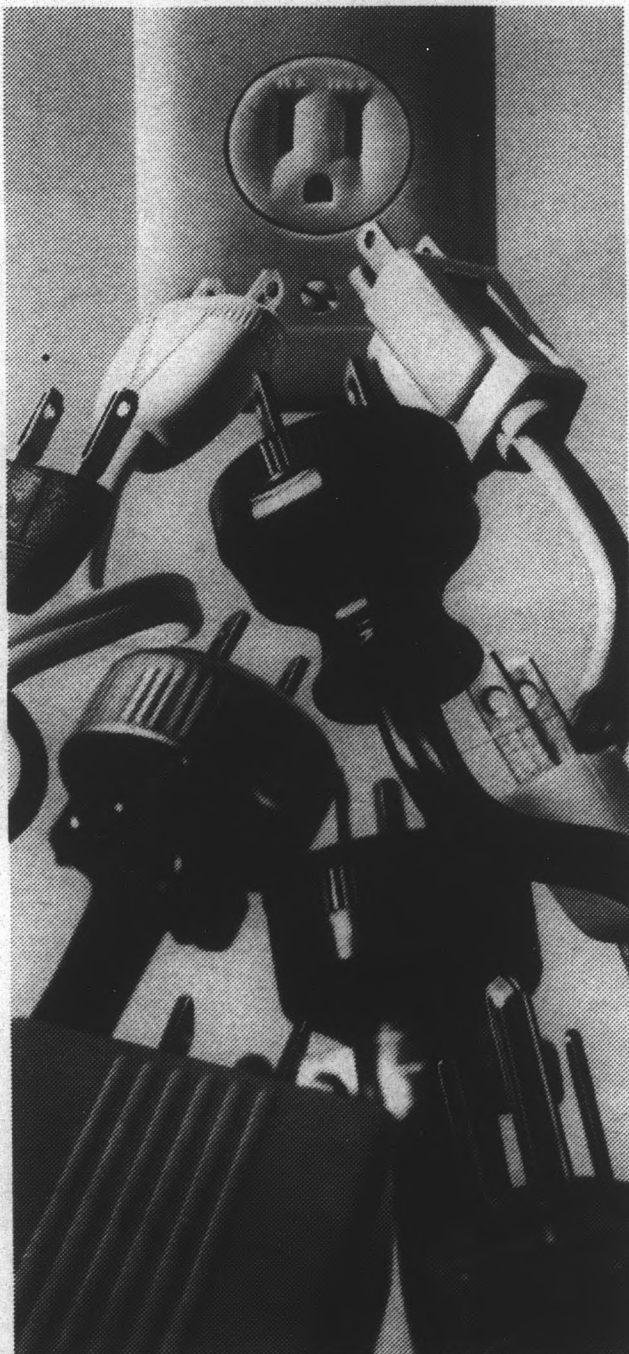

We met all demands, but our system was severely strained.

But what about the years ahead? Each year the demand for electricity keeps right on growing. New homes keep going up. And schools. Office buildings. Factories.

All will require additional electricity. So will the new equipment needed to clean up the environment.

Unless Edison is permitted to build additional power plants and transmission lines, it may become necessary to blackout blocks of customers on a rotational basis within two or three years.

Yet permits necessary to build any new major plants have been delayed or blocked for the past four years.

While a power shortage did not become a reality in 1971, the threat of one did. Edison is working with industrial and business firms to conserve electricity in offices and factories.

That's an immediate problem. We're working hard to resolve it.

The long-range problem requires finding more ways to conserve energy and to use our nation's total energy resources wisely. That involves all of us.

In Edison's fossil-fueled plants, for example, we're now able to produce 30% more electricity from a unit of fuel than in 1948. That helps.

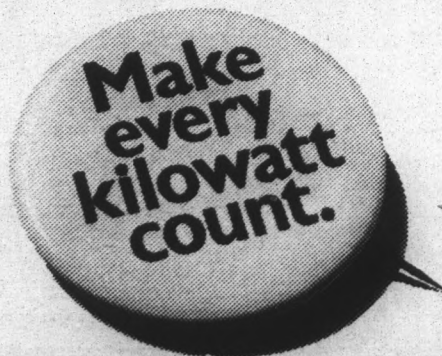

And by using higher-voltage transmission lines, we're also able to deliver electricity more efficiently.

Perhaps you can conserve energy, too. Have you considered ways to make every kilowatt count at home? We'll be happy to send you a list of practical suggestions.

FROST BULLETIN: Below freezing at all stations

It's hard to think "freeze" when the weather is hot, but good farmers like to look ahead. So do good bankers. And we all remember last year's damage, particularly to citrus and grapes.

That's why we're so busy these warm summer days — getting ready, now, for next January's cold winter nights.

We're advancing credit on wind machines, orchard heaters and sprinklers, and we're figuring how best to finance each customer's frost protection on the most attractive and practical terms.

If you have a crop subject to freeze losses, give us a call. We think you'll find us knowledgeable, and I know you'll find us interested.

Olson Named Supervising Ranger For State Division Of Forestry In County

VISALIA — Philip Olson, of Springville, has been named supervising ranger for state operations of the California Division of Forestry in Tulare county, according to an announcement from Chief Ranger Ray Banks.

For the past seven years Olson has directed CDF operations at the Mountain Home Conservation camp above Springville.

Banks praised the 40-year-old veteran fire officer, citing his broad background and extensive experience in mountain firefighting and wildland management duties during the past 20 years. Olson has already taken over his new duties, filling the vacancy created by the recent promotion of Robert Voss to Orange county.

Olson began his career in 1946 on seasonal fire crews with both the CDF and U.S. Forest service. After two years of army service in the Korean war, he returned to state fire service as a firetruck driver and fire captain in Fresno county in 1953. Four years later he became a crew foreman at Iron Mine Conservation camp in Placer county. In 1960 he was selected to head the CDF's pilot mobile conservation camp, where he remained until his assignment at Mountain Home camp in 1965.

Olson, a graduate of Sultana grammar school and Reedley high school, is a fishing and sports hobbyist and has been active in many Tulare county civic groups and youth programs.

He is a past president and five year secretary-treasurer of the Springville Lions club, current president and six year member of the board of trustees of the Springville Union School district, four year member of the board of directors of the Southern Tulare County Sportsman's association, Sunday School superintendent of the Trinity Lutheran church in Porterville, and Springville 4-H club leader for the past five years. He also is active in the San Joaquin Valley Conservation forum and in Boy Scout and Cub Scout work.

He and his wife, Betty, and four children, Karen, Philip, Kevin and Brian, have moved to Visalia.

Springville Development

the old hotel, and the new red and white paint job on Gifford's market give an idea of the potential for improving the appearance of Springville," Coon says.

In commenting on other community assets, Coon says that bids are about ready on the project to realign, widen and improve highway 190 from the River Island golf course through Springville, with actual work scheduled to start in September.

Improvements now being made on the Balch Park road are also cited as "something we have been working for years to get."

And with current development of resort areas in the Sierra, along with road improvements that now provide a loop from Bakersfield, through Kern canyon and Johnsondale, along the Western divide to Quaking Aspen, then through the Tule River watershed into Springville and Porterville, Coon believes that tourism offers a great potential for Springville.

"Maybe the Johnson project and actual work in highway 190 improvement will spark a new period of business activity in Springville - actually, I feel sure that it will," Coon says. "In fact I am also optimistic about the future of the Springville hospital. The chances seem excellent that it will be back in use before too much longer."

CALIFORNIA HAS 880,700 PLANTED ACRES OF COTTON

SACRAMENTO — California has an estimated 880,700 planted acres of cotton in its 1972 crop, including 700 acres of American-Pima cotton.

This year's planted total cotton acreage is 16 percent more than last year and 32 percent above the 1970 plantings. Generally, the current crop is developing well and is ahead of last year.

TAKE IT EASY! TRAFFIC DEATHS SHOW INCREASE

PORTERVILLE — Fatal traffic collisions in unincorporated southeastern Tulare county increased 83 percent during the first six months of 1972 compared to the same six-month period last year, according to the California Highway patrol.

Eleven collisions this year killed 13 persons within the area bounded by the Tulare-Lindsay highway on the north, Inyo county line on the east, Kern county line on the south, and Road 152 on the west.

This area accounted for only six collisions which killed six persons during the first six months of 1971. Coroner reports indicate most victims were under the influence of an intoxicant when they were killed.

California Highway Patrol arrests for drinking driver offenses increased 33 percent during the first six months of 1972 compared to the same six-month period last year.

INDUSTRIAL SITES LISTED IN TULARE CO.

VISALIA — During the coming months, Tulare county's industrial potential will be brought to the attention of vital industrial and financial sources throughout the United States, with the county's industrially zoned parks and districts listed in the 1972 Directory of Industrial Parks recently published by the California chamber of commerce.

Jack Smith, former manager of the Greater Tulare chamber of commerce and now economic director of the California chamber, has informed Tulare County Chamber of Commerce Manager Wayne Robertson that copies of the directory are being sent to more than 1,500 of the nation's largest industrial corporations, multistate banks, lending and mortgage institutions, and 11,000 businessmen on the California chamber's membership mailing lists. A copy of the directory will also be given to each industrial inquiry received by the California chamber during the year, and to each member of the Society of Industrial realtors and the American Industrial Real Estate association.

Industrial Parks and Districts of Tulare county listed in the new directory are located in the cities of Tulare, Visalia, Porterville, Woodlake, Lindsay, and the town of Terra Bella.

Watermelon movement out of Kern county is increasing.
